STUFF WE LIKE

Audit Management and Tracking (AMaT) are still a relatively new company, but one that is having a significant impact on the world of clinical audit and QI. In just a short time many NHS Trusts have adopted the platform and software that AMaT have created to make auditing simpler, more efficient and easier. CASC support training for AMaT and we endorse their product. The monthly AMaT podcasts are brilliant!

THE 3 KEY ELEMENTS

The podcasts are accessible to all via the AMaT website. You don't need to be an AMaT customer to listen and there is no hassle with needless logins and passwords. Just visit the AMaT website and scroll to the podcast section.

The podcasts feature national and local experts talking to Dom. The style is very relaxed and informal. Some speakers use AMaT while others do not. The podcasts are non-promotional and educational.

Each podcast lasts no more than 40 minutes. The range of topics to date is impressive and super relevant to audit and QI staff: impact of COVID, NICE guidelines, delivery of training, audit and inspections, action planning, etc.

Those working in clinical audit, QI and patient safety will find the AMaT podcasts helpful and relevant to their work. Click here to access the podcasts or visit www.amat.co.uk
